

“You Are My Inspiration”

By: Annie Rangel

Grandma, you are the first glistening flower on a spring day
Like the sun, you generously spread warmth and happiness with your rays
Like a fuzzy Georgia peach, you are just as sweet
You are as blithe as the birds in the trees, tweet, tweet, tweet
Your smile branches out like a tree and is rooted in love
Your soul is as colorful as a butterfly's wings, flying so high up above
Grandma, you are one of the hardest working bees I have ever met
Only your heavenly tasting food, I get
Grandma, your hugs are so warm I feel like it's summer vacation
Bringing feeling and hope into my life, Grandma, you are my inspiration